Rodrigue Tremblay

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Rodrigue Tremblay (born October 13, 1939) is an economist, humanist and political figure. He teaches economics at the University of Montreal. He specializes in macroeconomics, international trade and finance, and public finance. He is a prolific author of books in economics and politics.

Born in Matane, Québec, Canada, he has a B.A. from the Université Laval (1961), a B.Sc. in Economics from the University of Montreal (1963). Tremblay did his graduate work at Stanford University where he obtained a M.A. in Economics (1965) and a Ph.D. in Economics (1968). He has been a professor of economics at the Université de Montréal since 1967. He is professor emeritus since 2002.

Tremblay was president of the Association canadienne de science économique (1974-75) and of the North American Economics and Finance Association (1986-87). He was chairman of the Department of Economics of the University of Montreal (1973-76), member of the Committee of Dispute Settlements of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) (1989-93) and vice-president of the Association internationale des économistes de langue française (AIELF), from 1999 to 2005. He was invited scholar and economic consultant at the Bank of Canada, the Economic Council of Canada, the Quebec Commission of Inquiry on the Quebec Liquor Trade, the West African Monetary Union, the Royal Commission on the Economic Union and Development Prospects for Canada (MacDonald Commission) and the United Nations.

Tremblay presided at the foundation of the North American Review of Economics and Finance and was associate editor of the Review L'Action nationale and the financial weekly Les Affaires. Rodrigue Tremblay was elected member of parliament for the Montreal riding of Gouin on November 15, 1976, as candidate of the Parti Québécois. He served as Minister of Industry and Trade in the Government of Quebec, from 1976 to 1979. He sponsored the sale of wine in Quebec's 12,000 private grocery stores. He resigned from the Lévesque Cabinet on September 19, 1979. He resumed his academic career on April 15, 1981. He was named emeritus professor in 2002.

A few quotations by Rodrigue Tremblay

- * "The world should take notice when someone with a fanatic mind and with powerful means, receives his marching orders from Heaven."
- * "Wars are cruel gimmicks designed to enrich the few and impoverish the many."
- * "It is not faith that produces freedom; knowledge brings freedom."
- * "An incompetent politician who surrounds himself with competent people can pull it off. However, if he is dumb enough to surround himself with like-minded people, failure becomes a certainty."
- * "The two biggest curses of humanity have been religions and wars, and both are often intertwined."
- * "An organized minority is most of the time stronger politically than a disorganized majority."
- * "People have invented gods to console themselves from their absence of control over life and death."
- * "On the political chessboard, those in the middle may have influence, but they rarely have power."
- * "Cemeteries are full of people with large pension funds."
- * "The fact that we do not have a good government does not mean that we are not governed."
- * "In our media-run world, people get the politicians that pundits and journalists deserve."

- * "A government bent on controlling the people can never gather enough information on its citizens."
- * "Hell on Earth is when one has too few things, ...or too many."
- * "It would be nothing less than scandalous for the United States, which was founded on humanistic and democratic principles, to attempt to replace the old empires of the past and to deny the fundamental democratic right of other peoples and other nations to self-determination."
- * "The Earth can last without humans, but humans cannot survive without planet Earth."
- * *"The fundamental purpose and meaning of life is to be happy, to live fully and morally, and to help others be happy and live their lives fully and morally."
Rodrigue Tremblay, "The Code for Global Ethics", 2010*
- * "...It can be said that the fear of death is the greatest ally of religion."
- * "The religion-based promise of eternal life is the greatest hoax ever perpetrated on humankind."
- * "All over history, there has been a recurring tendency for the followers of different gods, as members of some imperial religions, to fight each other in bloody wars, and I would add, useless wars."
- * "Expansionist ideologies, such as communism, fascism, colonialism, Christianity, Islamism and Zionism, are powerful seeds of war. The more so, it seems, when one relies on the exhortations of a so-called "holy" book. The first three ideologies nearly destroyed the Planet in the 20th century, while the last three threaten to do the same in the 21st century."
- * "A [US] president who does not start a war abroad or who does not enlarge one already in progress is open to criticism and is likely to suffer politically. He must be seen less as a president than as "commander-in-chief", in effect, as an emperor."
- * "Corporations are not moral agents; only breathing individuals are; only they can adopt moral standards of conduct and be a source of law."
- * "In a democracy, voters' abstentionism is, in fact, often a vote against inefficient or corrupt politicians."
- * "Those who are opposed to military wars should also oppose trade wars, because the latter lead to the former."
- * "When there exists a state of permanent warfare, economic decline is to be expected. Indeed, the main reason why the overall standard of living is stagnating in some countries, notably in the United States, is due to the high proportion of resources being directed toward the parasitic military-industrial establishment."

* “The unrestricted use of money in politics can turn a vibrant democracy into a decadent plutocracy just as surely as poisoning a well can destroy a village.”

* “The world should be worried about those who go around the planet with a can of gasoline in one hand and a box of matches in the other, pretending to sell fire insurance.”

* “Wars of aggression are the most barbarous of all human endeavors and are, more often than not, the instruments of insane tyrants who hear voices.”
